EASAV presents a wet-lab for veterinarians & AHTs...

Lower Your Exposure: Hands-Free X-Ray Techniques For The Awake and Sedated Patient

Speakers: Toni Laoutaris, RVT, VTS (anesthesia/analgesia) & Jen Burke, RVT

In this interactive session, our speakers will demonstrate effective tools and techniques to eliminate the need to hold animal patients for x-rays. They will cover thoracic and abdominal view on live patients (dog and cat) and discuss various orthopedic hands-free techniques in a lecture format (in-person or virtual) using videos and step-by-step directions. The elements of diagnostic radiography and radiation safety will also be reviewed.

AbVMA, CVBC & SVMA-approved for 1-3 hrs of CE Credit

About our speakers: Toni Laoutaris, an RVT with over 14 years of experience, has a specialty with the AVTAA in anesthesia and analgesia and has been presenting workshops for the Hands-Free X-ray Team since 2017. Toni learned and mastered hands-free radiography over 10 years ago at the Toronto Veterinary Emergency and Referral Centre, a practice that is a 100% hands-free!

Jen Burke, an RVT at Vancouver Animal Emergency & Referral Centre since 2004, has been strictly using hands-free radiography techniques since 2016. She is passionate about the hands-free approach and is currently working towards a VTS specialty in Anesthesia & Analgesia.
